The railroad company only awarded the contracts for grading the railroad. At latest accounts they have made no award for ties, timber, telegraph poles and piling. Several New Mexico men have bids in for these contracts, and if they were awarded here, it would furnish much employ- ment. He slashes away in a vigorous ment to our people, which is greatly and able style that is quite refreshneeded. It is understood that the ing. railroad company propose to ship their ties and timber from the States. The reason for that, as alleged, is that owners of grants want too large a royalty for their timber. The company claim that the value of the grants will be increased largely by the construction of the railroad, and that the owners should not speculate off of them for timber; that they can obtain a better quality of ties and timber from the States, at but little advance in price over what they can be bought for on the ground, and that they would prefer to do it, rather than allow the grant owners to take advantage of a supposed necessity.

The railroad company is not entirely wrong in thus opposing the hogish preclivities of the owners of the large grants between Clifton and Las Vegas. The owners of those grants could well afford to donate the timber The lands are, in great part, uncultivated and unoccupied and the railrood, when built, will much more than double their value. Take, for instance, the Maxwell grant. The road passes directly through the great outlet to the plains of Kansas, for the coal as likewise for the timber and at a little greater cost to themselves, publican we might elect. rather than submit to such a mean demand. A spirit of liberality should be met in a generous way; but a mean

There are some things the railroad company cannot import cheaper than they can find on the ground; and among these are dirt and rock for grades and culverts. They are liable to take the grade from the soil and not ship it. Should they need any sand also; a few car loads might be found in the Rio Grande valley.

There are not enough important offices within the gift of the people to be worth great effort. A paper must exhibit signs of substantial worth in other fields, before it can be assured of life.

With good men for candidates, the real and greatest importance of a Territorial election is the effect it has upon national politics, or the endorsement, or disapproval, of the administration of affairs, by federal officials, in and out of the Territory. The effect of an election upon these matters is not great, but it is something. It is the only issue of prime importance and even a fight over it will not sustain a new spaper. It is not merely living on bread alone; it is weak

The manner of the removal of Gov. Axtell appears to be a curious proceedure. A young man comes here, claiming to represent the departments, writes out a number of questions, demands an immediate answer, or else threatens removal. He decides the questions are not answered properly, and reports at once for removal. Angeilalmost reaches the deflaition, "a bigger man than old Grant." There are other officials in the Territory said to be under investigation. They are given time to prepare their defense and make a proper showing. Even Mr. Angell worried along with the Indian Agent Godfroy, since last April, and finally came to the conclusion that the Agent had done nothing wrong; but as there was considerable dissatisfaction, a change would be Letter, and on that easy ground he was quietly let down. manufactured on the grant.
